Assistant Commissioner. of Bageman, Charles Hoffman,增强。Several of the Employees at the Agency.
And of the Indians Iron Bull, Blackfoot, Jiuu Bally, Bear Wolf, Old Crow, Good Head, and all the prominent Chiefs of the Mountain Crow, Of the River Crow, Little Soldier, Wolf Bow, and others, and a large number of Indians representing both branches of the Crow tribe,
In opening the Council Mr.
Brunott expressed the regret he had felt at not meeting the Crow on a former visit, and the pleasure it gave him himself and the other members of the Commission to meet them at the present time.
He then read and explained the instructions the Treaty made by them at Fort Laramie in 1868, and the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1873, under which the Commission was appointed and the letter of instructions Article 1.

The United States agrees that the following district of country to wit: commencing at a point on the Missouri River opposite to the mouth of South Pass Creek, thence up said creek to its head and thence along the summit of the divide between the waters of the upper Missouri River and Judith's Rivers and the waters flowing into the Missouri River to a point opposite to the divide between the head waters of the Judith's River and the waters of the Mussel Shell River; thence along said divide to the source Mountains, and along the summit of said source Mountains in a northeast direction to a point nearest to the divide between the waters which run eastly to the Mussel Shell River. and the valley running to the Judahite River; thence Northward along said divide to the divide between the head waters of Ar-\n\nMills creek and the head waters of Dog River, and along said divide to the Missouri River; thence up the middle of said River to the place of beginning. The said boundaries being intended to include all the country drained by the Judahite River, Arrow River, and Dog River, shall be and the same is set apart for the absolute and undisturbed use and occupation of the Indian nations named and for such other friendly tribes or individual Indians as from time to time they may be willing to reside in the country of the United States to admit among its citizens, and the United States hereby does and hereby agree that no persons except those herein designated and authorized to be so, and except such officers, agents and employees of the Government as may be authorized to rule Upon Indian Reservations in discharge of duties enjoined by law, shall ever be permitted to pass over, settle upon, or reside in the Territory described, in this Article for the use of said Indians and the United States agrees to erect the agency and the stipulations of the Treaty of Fort Laramie (the said stipulations being hereby reaffirmed) within the limits herein described, in lieu of upon the course side of the Yellow Stone River.

Article 2

The United States agrees to set apart the sum of one million dollars and to hold the same in trust for the sole use and benefit of the Crow Tribe of Indians, the principal to be held in perpetuity, and the interest thereof to be expended or reinvested at the discretion of the President of the United States annually for the benefit of said Tribe-
Article 3

It is mutually agreed to be between the United States and the Crow Indians that the second article of the treaty mad at Fort Laramie between the Commissioners of the United States and the Crow Tribe of Indians be, and the same is abrogated by this agreement and the said Indians here by cede to the United States all their right and title and claims to the track of country described in said second article to wit: Commencing where the 107th degree of Longitude west of Greenwich crosses the South boundary of Montana Territory thence North along said 107th Meridian to the West Channel of the Yellow Stone River to the point where it crosses the said southerly boundary of Montana being the 45th degree of North Latitude, and thence Eastwards along the said boundary... is conveyed to them forever except the right to hunt upon said lands as long as they may remain unoccupied, and as game may be found therein, and peace continue between the whites and Indians.

The United States agrees to use its best efforts so far as possible by the imposition of pains and penalties the practice of poaching or killing game by means of poison within the limits of the following district of country, viz.: Beginning at the mouth of the Nibley Hill River, thence up the said River to the north fork to its source, thence northward along the summit of the Little Belt and Dogwood Mountains to the head of Deep Creek thence along said creek to the Missouri River and along the main gin of said River to the place of beginning. between the Commissioner and the Indians. It is subject to the modification or rejection of the Congress of the United States at its next session and shall depend upon the action of Congress. The United States shall provide all necessary encroachments upon the reserved reservations of the Crow tribe.

The articles were carefully explained and fully understood by the Indians. Chief Billie said, "We have the land," Chief Horse said, "We will give you this land for what you say. This land belongs to us, we will sell it. These are our chiefs, we have asked for Iron Bull and Blackfoot to say they will sell the land, they do not sell, but the youngmen now say to sell it. We ask you to keep the trespassers away from our hunting grounds. These young men are chiefs and want to go to Washington to see the Great Father.
