To: Gus Horne

Dear Gus,

I wanted you to have this agenda and to write you a short note - perhaps it can take the place of some of what we might have talked about, had we spent the day together travelling.

I thought you might like to see where the group is “at” - some of that comes through in the agenda.

As you can see - the flow is from more cerebral to more experiential. - from more distant to “out here” (touring) to up close. Also from others (c. 1st Nov.) (BLM) to us. Also from wild horses (conceptual) to wild horses (actual) Wild Horse/Wildlife conflicts to Management/grazing systems etc.

I see an opportunity for you fit into that flow in almost any way you wish - I think they’ll be ready for stuff they can touch/stone - I also see it as a chance for them to experience you in relation to your work (the stuff that didn’t get in resumes) and recent learnings (the stuff that didn’t get in textbooks).

I don’t know what else to say -

I guess that will see you at the Sixtling Junket. Thursday am.

Jim looking forward to the day.

Thanks
